

F I E L D C O N T R O L S

Tim Begoske is Field Control's Midwest Regional Manager. He has over 48 years' experience in the HVAC industry working with a number of manufacturer's in a variety of technical, sales, marketing, and training capacities. Tim is one of the industry's leading experts in draft, venting, combustion air, and indoor air quality products. He also is a subject matter expert in multiple heating and cooling technologies including almost all of the industries current appliance technologies and products.

Tim has taught over 500 training courses for thousands of engineers, inspectors, specifiers, technicians, service managers and heating and cooling professions. Tim is a licensed Residential Builder and BPI Certified Building Analyst and Envelope Professional.