

Travis Keyser Director of Technical Training - Johnstone Supply

Travis is a team-oriented leader with demonstrated success at delivering results in a fast-paced work environment. He brings 18.5 years of experience in the HVAC industry. Travis's background includes working in the field as a service technician, design-engineering labs at an OEM manufacturer, specialized support for an OEM, as well as technical training. Travis also has been published in multiple trade magazines and has written two service manuals. Travis sets high standards of excellence in regards to leadership and program objectives. He supports meaningful and high-quality customer programs.

Currently, Travis is using his experience to bring innovative and engaging technical HVAC training to the Michigan area.